

Dear FCC,Regarding the regulation of VoIP services, I feel that they should be unregulated, because they are being treated as data packets, allowing them to be handled differently than dedicated voice circuits. The fact that a voice conversation is being carried out is irrelevant, in that an IRC-type chat can be carried out by voice given text-to-speech programs at the users' computers. Thanks,

Peter Hardie

</PRE>

--

Pete Hardie		Goalie, DVSG Dart Team posting from, but not speaking for:
Scientific Atlanta, Digital Video Services Group

- - - - - Appended by Scientific-Atlanta, Inc. - - - - -

This e-mail and any attachments may contain information which is confidential, proprietary, privileged or otherwise protected by law. The information is solely intended for the named addressee (or a person responsible for delivering it to the addressee). If you are not the intended recipient of this message, you are not authorized to read, print, retain, copy or disseminate this message or any part of it. If you have received this e-mail in error, please notify the sender immediately by return e-mail and delete it from your computer.